1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This document will outline in detail the software architecture and design for the Reservation of Facility and Equipment Inventory System (RFEIS). This document will include some views on the design of the framework to promote the system's communication and understanding.

1.2 Scope of the Development Project

This document provides the architecture and design of Release 2.0 of the RFEIS. It shows how the design will accomplish the functional and non-functional requirements detailed in the RFEIS Software Requirements Specification (SRS) document.

1.3. Definitions, Acronyms, and Abbreviations

Term/Acronym	Definition
DBMS	Database Management System. A programmable interface which provides a common layer of abstraction between a physical database and a user or external program.
HTML	Hypertext Markup Language. Set of markup symbols or codes intended for display on a World Wide Web browser page. The markup instructs a web browser on how to display words and images for a web page.

PHP	Hypertext Preprocessor. An extensible scripting language, suited for web-based development, typically embedded in HTML.
CodeIgniter	is a MVC framework with directories for your models, views and controllers, conveniently named “Models,” “Views,” and “Controllers.” The “Config” directory contains a fair number of configuration files and three you’ll want to customize first are going to be “App.php,” “Autoload.php,” and “Database.php.” They have lots of helpful comments to explain what each setting is to guide you along.
RFEIS	Reservation of Facility and Equipment Inventory System

1.4 References

References are from the documents ofORS Software Requirements Specification (SRS) Version 2020.

1.5 Overview of Document

This document is for the client’s reference. The specifications of the software will be seen here. Any revisions of the Reservation of Faculty and Equipment Inventory System will be updated here. This will help the administrators of the information system to be able to know what to do in case errors arise.

2. System Architecture Description

2.1 Overview of Modules/Components

The Reservation of Facility and Equipment Inventory System is a web-based system for managing the web application of the administrative office of the university. The development team had purposely designed the modules of each module for their stakeholders. The administrators and super administrator will have the most functionality.

The relationship designs and diagrams of the system are based on the Entity Relationship Diagram.

The ER diagram for the 'frbs' database illustrates the relationships between various entities. The tables and their attributes are as follows:

- frbs_reservations: id (BigInt), user_id (BigInt), organization_id (BigInt), faculty_id (BigInt), facility_id (BigInt), event_type_id (BigInt), reservation_code (Varchar), event_name (Varchar), event_objectives (Varchar), budget (Int), in_charge (Varchar), participants_count (Int), reservation_date (Date), reservation_starting_time (Time), reservation_end_time (Time), status (Varchar), created_at (DateTime), updated_at (DateTime), deleted_at (DateTime).

3. Detailed Description of Components

3.1 Component Template Description

The components of the web application are the following:

- Database server – provides the data of the web application.
- Web server – delivers data files and web pages to web-based applications.
- Client software –resides in the computer or mobile device of the user so he can access the application.

4. Reuse and Relationships to Other Products

The Reservation of Facility and Equipment Inventory System was designed by the development team according to the PUP-Taguig's regulations. The database is independent.

4.1 PHP Tools

RFEIS was developed with the Code Igniter Framework.

4.2 Database

RFEIS' data are stored by a MySQL database. The administrator won't have to worry about the security of the database.

5. Design Decisions and Tradeoffs

To create RFEIS, the developers asked the requirements of the client. The web application was checked by the client. If he's not satisfied, he suggests an alternative solution.

The client requested the system to be user-friendly and easy to understand so the students won't have a hard time reserving the facilities and equipment of the university.

6. Design Schema

The following data are the Data Dictionary of the Reservation of Facility and Equipment Inventory System.
